The image displays five overlapping habit tracker templates. Each template is titled "HABIT TRACKER" and includes a header section for a name and a date. The main body of each template is a grid with 31 columns (representing days) and multiple rows (representing different habits). The templates are color-coded: orange, yellow, teal, purple, and pink. The teal template is the most prominent, showing a grid with 31 columns and 10 rows. The other templates are partially visible behind it, showing their respective colors and grid structures.
